Please note:

The general Study and Examination Regulations apply.

Section 49 (6) Repeating examinations

Compulsory optional and elective modules which were not passed and which constitute part of the course program, can be exchanged for another module within the standard period of study as long as a right of admission to the examination exists. Beyond the standard period of study, one further compulsory optional module and one further optional module which were not passed and which constitute part of the course program can also be exchanged. Should a module be exchanged, the proper authority within the Central University Administration must be given written notice of this, at the latest when registering for the exchange examination.
